Motivando a sus Hijos

Inspire a su niño este año hablar a menudo sobre la educación de sus niños como hablar de la salud. Nada es dicho a menos que algo esté equivocado. Trate de darle la vuelta. Haga un esfuerzo de alabar a su niño por el buen trabajo que pueda. Es una manera de ayudarlos tener éxito en la escuela. Aquí hay otras maneras poder apoyarlo en su aprendizaje:

Espere lo mejor. Si usted esta de acuerdo con el trabajo a medias entonces su hijo va hacer lo mismo. Algunos niños necesitan ayuda para poder hacer lo mejor. Si su hijo es un estudiante que necesita ayuda adicional hable con los maestros y hago el esfuerzo para que pueda recibir ayuda.

Dale seguridad durante los momentos difíciles. Esto pueda que sea difícil si usted esta teniendo problemas familiares pero no necesariamente. Cada dia dejale saber que usted lo quiere y que usted los aprecia. Este seguro de informarles a sus maestros cualquier cambio que pueda afectarles en concentrarse en la clase.

Complementar a los Maestros y a la escuela. Si usted tiene alguna queja, notifiquelo con calma. Mantengase compuesta en la oficina cuando este al frente de su hijo esto le sirve como ejemplo a su hijo en los momentos de dificultad, que usted le he importante la escuela. Cuando usted refleje que la educacion es lo mas importante para usted su hijo lo va tomar de la misma manera. Para mas informacion visite el internet a esta direccion.

child's favorite book for the millionth time!

Having access to books.

That's why those trips to the library are so important!

Being given choices. Even the youngest child likes to select her own stories. Start off by giving your child a choice between two books.

Hearing your suggestions. If you come across a tale that would be just the thing for your child, offer to read it to her/him

PSE Library Birthday Book Club

This is a great way to celebrate your child's birthday in a special way and help our library collection grow. Participation involves a minimum of $10.00 donation per book (per child). If you have any questions, please contact Mrs. Shendok our library media specialist at 407-518-2000.

Building Character

Encourage caring at home

It's important to show your child how to be caring. To guide your child toward showing concern and kindness for others:

- Use kind words, including please and thank you.
- Have kind actions. Teach the importance of sharing.

Building Readiness

Surround your child with books

To help develop your child's reading skills, choose and reads filled with rich language. The librarian at your local library is a great resource. Experiment with different kinds of books, including fiction, nonfiction and poetry. And remember to emphasize reading time over TV time.

Building Responsibility

Practice responsibility

Whether your child is in preschool or kindergarten, it's not too early to start building her/his sense of responsibility. Here are some ways to start:

Make a large wall calendar. Help your child mark what He/She needs to do. "Show & Tell" on Wednesday. Library book due on Friday. This organization will come in handy when he/she has more complicated home work assignments later in life.

Have her/him choose what they'll wear to school the night before. This will save time in the morning—a great habit to get into before elementary school begins.

Building Readers
Families keep children motivated to read.

Families play an enormous role in turning children into lifelong readers. But how can you keep kids excited about books? Aside from making story time enjoyable and interesting, research shows that children are motivated to read by:

Previous experience. Kids are often drawn to books they've had read to them before. So don't balk at reading your

Parent Quiz
Are you teaching respect at home?

Children who understand the importance of having respect for themselves, others and authority are more likely to be successful in school. Answer the following questions yes or no to see if you're raising a respectful child:

1. Do you treat your child with respect?
2. Do you teach your child to respect rules by following them yourself?
3. Do you model polite behavior, such as saying please and thank you?
4. Do you explain the reasons behind rules to your child?
5. Do you encourage your child to be honest

Motivating your child

Inspire your child this year

Too often talking about your children's education is like talking about health. Nothing is said unless something is wrong. Try turning that around. Make a point to praise your child for good work whenever you can. It's a great way to help them succeed in school. Here are some other ways to support their learning.

Expect their best. If you're satisfied with half an effort, your child will be too. Some kids need extra help to do their best. If your child is a student who needs assistance, talk with their teachers and take steps to get that help.

Give extra comfort during hard times. This may be tough to do if your family is having problems, but it's necessary. Each day, reassure your child that you love them and appreciate them. Be sure to inform their teacher of any changes that might affect their concentration in class.

Compliment her teachers and school. If you have complaints, address them calmly. Stay upbeat in front of your child and send a message that even if there are difficulties, you still believe that school is good and important. When education is your priority, it probably will be your child's priority also.

Plans for a Rainy Day

When it rains and there is no lightening bikers and walkers are instructed to do what their parents have told them to do on rainy days. Please tell your student now if you want them to go to car rider or to go out the walker gate when it rains. For security reasons with the bus riders we cannot have bikers and walkers go out the front foyer. Thank you for your understanding with this as we try to keep all PSE students safe. Remember that only students that truly walk home should be leaving out the walker gate. All car riders should report to the car rider area.
